About this course

Spark up a career in the electrical industry.

The Certificate II in Electronic Assembly is an entry-level qualification, providing participants with an insight into the electrical industry.

Under supervision, participants will gain practical skills and knowledge in:

- Assembling wired and wireless base-level security systems
- Electronic components
- Installation and assembly of equipment
- DC and AC theory
- Microprocessors
- Safety in the workplace

Participants will practice the skills they have learned in a workshop environment. This course provides a suitable pathway into an electrical apprenticeship with an employer.
