

K5000P Introductory Training for Health and Safety Representatives

State ID: K5000P

About this course

Need to know about workplace health and safety?

This five-day course has been designed to provide elected work health and safety representatives with the skills to effectively represent their fellow employees in matters relating to occupational safety, health and welfare.

Participants will be guided through:

- Requirements of current occupational health, safety and welfare legislation within the workplace
- Workplace hazards and control methods
- Conducting effective workplace health and safety inspections
- Conducting effective investigations into workplace accidents or incidents
- The role of work health and safety representatives from management and union perspectives
- Mental health issues, including anxiety, depression and resilience
- Local support services and referrals

Need to refresh your existing workplace health and safety skills? Check out our Work Health and Safety Reps Refresher Course.

Overview

Semester 2, 2019

Tom Price Campus - 25 - 29 November, 2019

Duration: 5 Days

When: Semester 2, 2019

How: Face-to-face classroom delivery

Units

Elective

National ID	Unit Title
K5000	Introductory Training for Health and Safety Representatives